Case Study

Automating Processes and Transactions Leads to Reduced Workload at a Global Insurer

A Larsen & Toubro
Group Company

Client

The client is a UK-based leading global P&C Insurer.

Challenges

Allocating Premium and Claims cash receipts to the correct transactions on the ledgers is a laborious and manual task. The process is expensive to manage, inefficient and can give rise to large sums of unallocated cash waiting to be correctly allocated. The client was looking to streamline this allocation processes and reduce workload.

LTI Solution

We implemented our PaaS platform, which helped client issue enhanced electronic bank statement. Digital contracts of outstanding payments, and smart transactions could be created. Using business rules and Machine Learning, electronic bank statements could now be more detailed, with the ledger automatically updated without human intervention.

Business Benefits

- 70% reduction in the workload of the operations team responsible
- 90% reduction in unallocated cash
