

Case Study

Agile, Demand-driven and Responsive
Supply Chain for Auto & Industrial Components Manufacturing Major

Client

Our client is a multinational conglomerate, that produces automotive parts such as batteries, and electronics and HVAC equipment for buildings.

Challenges

The company was looking to have a smart supply chain, coupled with enhanced IT service capabilities, optimize efficiency, quality, productivity, and cost-effectiveness. Their key objectives were:

Simultaneous visibility to check component availability and capacity

Flexible & enhanced business rules to prioritize customer orders

Near real-time realignment of order confirmation, in line with defined business priorities

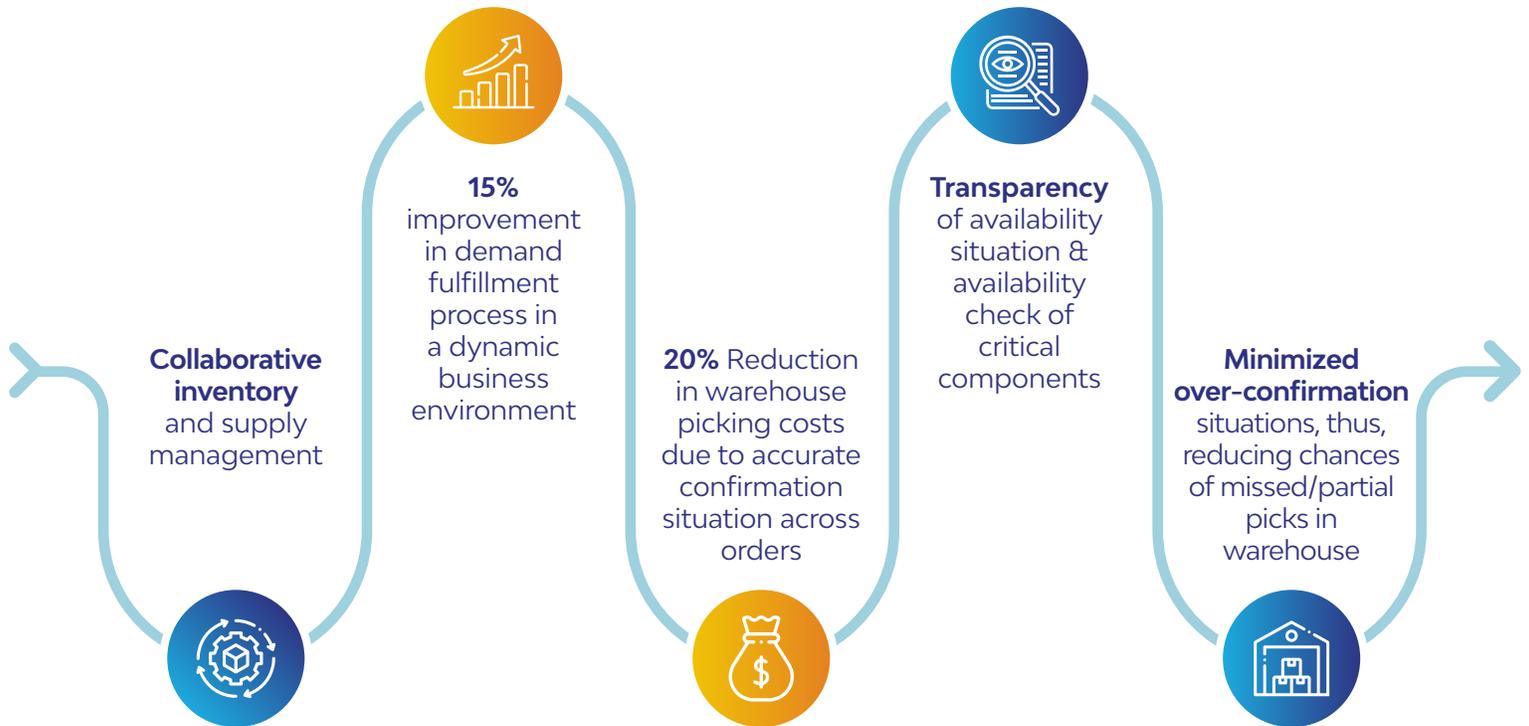

LTI Solution

LTI came up with an intelligent solution to understand true demand and ensure end-to-end traceability. Process automation with combination of M-ATP (Multi-level ATP) solution and back- order rescheduling helped in production prioritization based on demand.

The - M-ATP solution was enhanced to bring in "Product Allocation" features to consider capacity, along with availability. The solution suite solved major challenges, using intelligent logic and demand planning.

LTI helped the client deliver business value through its domain-led solutions and technologies, get a tighter control on their supply chain and optimize processes with operational excellence, but with a human touch.
